A MUSICAL PARADE OF HISTORY

... Wendy Scott, Russ Rice and Greg Christofferson get together to make final plans for Thursday's forum assembly. The assembly, sponsored by the ASBYU Culture Office will be a history of music "From Bach to Rock." A total of six bands—three conventional and three rock—will perform.

Free Concert Thursday...

'The Happenings' To Appear

A free concert featuring the hit pop group, The Happenings, and two Saturday night dances highlight this week's activities as part of The Casual Cotillion.

The Cotillion, an annual event sponsored by the sophomore class, swings into full blast Thursday night with a free concert in the Smith Fieldhouse. Performing as the star attraction are The Happenings, a group from the northern New Jersey city of Paterson.

"This is the greatest thing we've seen all year," declared Sophomore Class President Steve Wilcox in describing the scheduled event. The concert is co-sponsored by the sophomore class and the ASBYU Social Office.

IT'S CASUAL

"The dress for the concert and the dances is in keeping with the theme of The Casual Cotillion: It's casual," Steve said. "School dress is appropriate for all Cotillion events."

He went on to explain admission procedures for the concert. "The doors to the Fieldhouse will open at 7:15 p.m. and the concert is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. No tickets are necessary, as seats are on a first-come, first-served basis, but activity cards will be required for admission."

The four-man group, The Happenings, is rated as one of those pop groups "most likely to succeed," and their record thus far bears out that prediction. They have recorded such hit tunes as "See You In September," and recently formed their own record production and music publishing company in California.

KEEN ROUTINE

On stage, the routine for the group is anything but routine. They vary from singing straight ballads to doing takeoffs on other groups like The Beach Boys, The Rolling Stones and The Four Seasons.

Saturday night's activities include two dances, one conventional and one rock. The rock dance is in the Wilkinson Center ballroom, and the rock conventional dance is in Cannon Center. Both will cost 75 cents per person and will begin at 8 p.m.

The Saints are the featured group at the rock dance, which will also feature old-time silent movies, and The Grant Shields Group will play at Cannon Center.

Ray Gets Postponement In King Murder Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—James Earl Ray won a postponement Tuesday until March 3 of his first-degree murder trial in last spring's assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

The defendant was reported hopeful of doing better when the Republican national administration takes over early next year.

The state vigorously but vainly opposed the continuance granted by Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle in favor of Ray, a 40-year-old escaped convict.

"He's been here four months or better and it appears to me he's trifling with the court," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Gen. Robert K. Dwyer. He referred to Ray's return to Memphis after his capture June 8 in London, England. The defendant had been the target of the greatest manhunt in American history.

... The State of Tennessee is ready for trial," Dwyer continued. "We have something like 90 witnesses alerted nationally and in various parts of the world to come in here."

"What assurances are there that at the last moment the defendant might not come in and say, 'I don't want this gentleman here,'" whereupon Dwyer nodded toward 6-foot-4 criminal lawyer Percy Foreman, who took over the defense only last Sunday night from Arthur Hanes, 52, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala.

Hanes said he was fired because of Ray's insistence that the scheduled opening of the trial be delayed, hopeful that he would do better after the new administration takes office.

Hanes said he does not know the basis for Ray's hope.

"All of this is a subterfuge," said Hanes. "James Earl Ray

Preferred Voting Begins

Preliminary voting for the "Most Preferred Man" on campus will be held today and Thursday, according to Associated Women Students.

Ballots may be cast at tables set up in the Jesse Knight and McKay Buildings, Wilkinson Center, Deseret Towers and Cannon Center. The voting will select 25 semi-finalists for the final ballot Nov. 25 and 26.

All wards, organizations, residence halls and others are urged by group leaders to support the candidates which they have sponsored.

The BYU male selected as the "ladies choice" will reign with a count of 11 other men at the Preference Ball Dec. 6. Tickets for the ball will be $2.50 per couple.

SEVERAL SITES

As with other large dances, the ball will be held at several locations. Couples will dance in Deseret Towers, Cannon Center, Smith Family Living Center, the Wilkinson Center Main Ballroom, and the Provo City Court House.

There will also be a concert Dec. 5 sponsored by AWS in connection with the Preference activities. Playing at the concert will be the Vogues, a soft-rock group with several hit songs to its credit. The entertainers will perform in the Smith Fieldhouse. Tickets for green seats will be $2. Bleacher seats will cost $1.50.

Preference will begin Nov. 21, 6-10 p.m. It will continue Nov. 22, 6-9 p.m. and Nov. 23, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will also be late preference Nov. 25, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Nov. 26, 3-5 p.m.

WATCH MAIL

After the girls pull the IBM card of their choice, AWS will mail out invitations to the lucky fellows chosen.

Preference will be in order of the last two digits of the girls' activity numbers. The highest numbers will go first this year, starting at 99 and going down.

Yell Contest

A penchant for dreaming up unpronounceable words?—Those souls possessed of such a talent may now put their hitherto unappreciated gift to use.

The last yell contest of the year will be conducted during the week—the winning yell will be performed at the football game, if the situation warrants.

See the story on page 4 for further details on the yell of the week.

The Way It Is...

A Time Of Crisis
For The ASBYU

By Judy Geissler

This is a time of crisis for the Associated Students of Brigham Young University. Student leaders now face challenges that seem so overwhelming they are impossible to cope with, problems so numerous they cannot be solved, disputes so bitter and divisive there can be no unity.

Since the year began, we have seen disputes arise based on issues in part, and, sadly enough, on personalities in part. We have seen power clashes between the Cabinet and the Executive Council, the Cabinet and the President, the Council and the classes, the AMS and AWS and the Council, some vice presidents and other vice presidents, leaders and their followers, and so forth down the line.

All of these clashes and disputes culminate in one question posed today to all student leaders from the lowest committee member to the student body president: can the 1968-69 student organization solve these problems so adequately that they need not arise again to plague student governments yet to come?

An examination of the problems facing student leaders is in order, with the hope that these problems may be solved. Student government is challenged to settle the following issues:

THE ROLE OF THE CABINET

An immediate question which is pressing upon the minds of many student leaders is the role of the ASBYU Cabinet. In recent months the disputes between the Executive Council and the Cabinet, and the President's office and the Cabinet have brought this issue to the front in the minds of many residents of the Wilkinson Center fourth floor.

The leaders of the Cabinet felt restricted by the lack of definition of powers and duties, and seized enough power to force the issue into the ASBYU Supreme Court for decision.

The challenge is to choose between real powers and duties for the Cabinet, or its abolition. One way or another, student government is challenged to take positive action to remedy the situation.

THE CLASS GOVERNMENT CONTROVERSY

Class officers rightly need to know what they are supposed to do. Once again the ASBYU Constitution is vague, and officers were elected by the student body and should have powers and duties commensurate with that election. The Executive Council feels, generally, that class government officials serve special interest groups.

The issue here is whether or not class government, through its existence, is of sufficient service to the students it represents to justify its existence. If so, the Executive Council is challenged to help class government do the best job it can. If not, class government is challenged to assist the Council in discovering a more effective alternative.

PERSONALITY CLASHES

This is a real problem, one from which student leaders cannot hide. No one wants to work with someone who refuses to cooperate or help in any way, and no one wants to try to cooperate with and help someone who seems to resent every move made. In a particularly unfortunate case between two vice presidents whose offices face each other, the only thing that is being helped is the political ambition of those not involved in the clash.

Student leaders are challenged to work out their personality differences, and to at least put these differences aside when dealing with issues of concern to the entire student body.

HATS OFF TO THE LADIES!

Tuesday's appointment of Susan Howe to the ASBYU Supreme Court added a woman to the ranks of that austere body for the first time in the Court's history. Susan is a sophomore and hails from Dallas, Texas. The daughter of a mission president, she is a Spanish major and English minor and has previously served as a hall president.

One of the unfortunate facts of life in student government is that people who really deserve credit are overshadowed by their spectacular superiors. One such person is Kathy Sompri.

Kathy is Paul Genho's secretary. (Paul is an executive assistant to ASBYU President Grant Richards.) She is a junior majoring in Spanish and spent the summer in Mexico City. She has worked with Paul since he first became active in student government, and Paul calls her "the best secretary in student government."

Hats off to you both, pals, and that's THE WAY IT IS today, on and around the one, the only, the incomparable fourth floor.

Phone Numbers Hard To Get

The BYU telephone information service, during the first month and a half of school, presented to the public an image of disorganization and obsolescence. This service frustrated and angered many people who often found the information lines busy for several hours.

When a service is promised, people expect it without too many flaws; and if it is not provided adequately, people are upset and impatient.

During the few weeks prior to the selling of student directories, the problem was extreme. At this time information operators were handling more than 9,000 calls a week, and probably many more were never answered. According to one switchboard operator, sometimes as many as five calls for information were turned away for every one that got through. One student tried for an hour and a half to contact information, and after eight attempts gave up, deciding it would be easier to wait a week for a student directory.

Why the simple task of reaching an information operator was often impossible during the first six weeks of school is easily explainable—not enough telephone lines. Only three lines are available for this purpose, and often just two girls receive calls on these three lines. During peak hours, some information operators handled 20 calls an hour.

No one is to be blamed for the shortage of help and lines, because this is just one area that is feeling the growing pains caused by BYU's phenomenal expansion.

The situation is now less serious, because many students obtained directories, but the same dilemma will be with us again next fall unless a solution is found.

A possible answer might be to install 15 extra lines and to employ 15 special girls to handle information calls during peak periods. Fewer new lines and girls might suffice. Provo City Information Service is larger area than BYU and 20 lines are used. Seldom does one get a busy signal when dialing Provo Information.

According to Wendell Nielson, director of telephone services, more lines could be installed, but the main difficulty would be footing the cost of the extra help. Surely BYU cares enough about its phone service to pay the added amount. However, if other expenses are deemed more urgent, there is Seldom does one get a busy signal when dialing Provo Information.

Whatever the answer, action must be taken.

Now is the time to analyze records of calls, and to experiment with new ideas for improving the phone service at BYU.

A solution to this dilemma must be discovered—and soon.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Editor:
For Pete sake! What the devil is going on at the great and tremendous BYU? Are we here to get an education or to play silly games?

During the summer I received a letter from the Administration saying something to the effect that I should leave my car home and, if anything, bring a bicycle.

For one thing leading? Is it just that the Administration is so busy that they need all this extra money, or is a BYU needs a real reason for playing the licensing game. I mean, really—a bicycle?

And, if you look at the photograph of Pitroff Charles Akana, on the front page of Oct. 31 UNIVERSE, you'll see there, next to his truck, a big smile on his face as if to say, "Charley, you do GOOD work, 'or, well, this should get me the promotion I've been waiting for."

CHANGE OF POLICY

The other day on my way to a political rally, I caught sight of a dumpy little guy peering anxiously at a budget report bulletin. Lying his red white and blue track shoes, I decided he must be a visitor and probably needed some help.

"Is there something special I can assist you with?" I inquired nervously, realizing that both his hands were filled with dark, slimy mud from the botany pond. "Oh, no, I don't think so," he smiled, looking pleased as punch. "I'm just looking for a worthy subject to give your tax money to. In great, wealthy, prosperous America, I feel it my duty to help separate the haves from the have-nots and redistribute the wealth between the two in a more equitable fashion. Now don't you think that's only fair?"

"I must admit," I said, noting the word SOCIETY tattooed across his forehead, "that I have always felt sorry for the poor." "Yes, sorry," he repeated, flicking his tongue with swift, forked strokes, "but sorry is not enough. Your conscience must be prodded to drive you to action; give, give and if you don't, I will help you by forcing you to open your puny old pocket poverty."

"But I only make two dollars and forty cents a week working full time for the BYU grounds service!" I whined, trying to cover up the holes and patches in my blue blazer. His eyes got misty and I think his lower lip began to quiver. "My boy, what you need, what this country needs is change of policy. The day of the greedy millionaire depriving you of your rights as a citizen must come to an end," he cried, snatching his mud-covered pointer of the front-run presidential candidate.

I tried to escape the muddy snarl but was caught up in the joy of the moment and could not resist. I continued to down the street slapping and singing "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town."

"Entry blanks for the separate M-Men and BYU Intramurals programs are now available in 112 Richards P.E. Bldg.," announced Ron Swapp, Intramural publicity chairman.

Ward entries in the M-Men division program will be limited to one team per ward, while any number of teams may be entered by independents, clubs, halls or wards in the BYU Intramural program.

"A $13 fee is required for each ward team entered in the M-Men division," Swapp added. All checks should be made payable to "BYU zone." Eligibility for participation on a ward team is determined by the ward in which one lived on Oct. 12.

A strong Cougar water polo team strengthened its season record with an impressive win over Utah last week 8-7. The victory gave BYU a 2-1 edge in the four-game series between the two rival schools.

BYU drew blood first with a well-executed goal by Lind Williams, but the Utes came roaring back with two quick goals to surge ahead.

Highlighting the Cougar amphibious prowess is All-America Eric Carson, who scored four goals in the Utah duel. Add to Carson's fine playing of Lloyd Pettigrew, Reinhard Furtick, Peter Felsabend and Steven "Hands" O'Keefe, a good defensive goalie, and a spirited BYU team emerges.

The Y "B" team lost in a tough double-overtime session to the Utes, 11-9.

Sandy Moser Wins Yell Contest

Winner of the "yell of the week contest" for the week of the BYU-University of Utah gridiron contest, sponsored by the BYU Pep Committee, was sophomore coed Sandy Moser from Weiser, Ida., majoring in nursing.

"We owe Sandy an apology for not doing her yell at the game," commented John Charles of the pep committee. "Her yell wasn't fitting at the time, due to the score," he added.

DINNER FOR TWO

"A dinner for two in the skyroom will be awarded to Sandy for her winning yell," noted Charles. The "yell of the week" contest is sponsored by the Pep Committee for each home game.

"It can be a lot of fun for both the student body and the winner of the week's creative yell," Charles said.

"The idea is to promote more spirit for the Cougar team and fans. The new yell will build the team morale higher and increase student participation. It will also serve to initiate new cheers and more variation," he added.

THIS WEEK'S YELL

This week's yell is for the Saturday game—Arizona State Sun Devils at Cougarville. Entries are to be submitted to 433 ELWC no later than 10 p.m. Thursday.

"Everyone is invited to participate. The more students involved, the more successful the contest will be," Charles said.

Sun Devils Invade...

Big Upset In The Making?

Still straining for a glimpse of the light at the end of the tunnel, BYU's football team appears headed for additional torment this weekend at the hands of the Arizona State Sun Devils.

The Cougars, who have suffered through six straight defeats, but hope for a little daylight. But the caliber of Saturday's competition is such that the battered Mountain Cats may have to wait at least another week for their breakthrough.

Judging from the way the Sun Devils have been running up the big scores, the outlook for the Cougars is rather gruesome. Arizona State seems to be nearing peak form, while BYU is struggling to keep a sufficient number of players in uniform.

Kickoff for the BYU-ASU game in Provo is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., and it will be the Cougars' last chance to win a home game this season. BYU is batting 0-4 on its own home field, albeit against some outstanding football teams.

The Sun Devils posted their fifth win of the season Saturday, blasting Utah 59-21. The Cougars, meanwhile, were handed their sixth straight setback, 8-34, in a game with Utah State.

CAT DESPERATION

If there is a feeling of desperation in the Cougar camp, there are reasons for it. For once

BYU is running out of player personnel. The demand for Scotch tape, baling wire and healing balm from the equipment room has all but depleted the stock.

What's more, the nature of the injuries are such that they can't be repaired before the end of the season. No fewer than 14 of the Cougar injury were listed among the BYU starters on offense and defense at one time or other during the season.

The latest to be moved over to the hospital platoon is linebacker Tim Roberts. The 210-pound junior from Phoenix was hospitalized late last week with mononucleosis. Roberts isn't expected to return before the end of the season.

Others among the regulars recently sidelined include Terry Sanford, quarterback-defensive safety; Kip Jackson, sophomore wingback; George Gruber, offensive guard; Sam Hamer, middle guard; and kicking specialist Steve Christensen.

Even with a number of their best players on the injury list, the Cougars have been able to perform well under trying circumstances. In Saturday's game with Utah State the BYU defense limited the Utah State team to only 87 yards rushing and passing in the first half.

But the Aggies kept pounding away and managed to wear the Cougars down. By the middle of the third quarter Utah State had cracked the game open, and they had little trouble thereafter.

HOLD EVERYTHING

Slipp seems to be saying as he hauls down USU's kickoff ball. The line of scrimmage during the contest, won by the Uags, 34-8. Slipp anchored down the defensive slot for the Cougars and has proven to be a key player for the Cat defense this year.

Spot Spots Tabulated

Backer Craig Borich seems to be one bright spot in the Cougar defense. He is standing strong for his ballers, statistics show.

Utah State scout said that he would return to Tempe would run away from Craig's attacks.

The BYU team on the line 130 points in the Cougar system where a couple points for his defensive accomplishment holds the second category.

Heave, Dave Swanson
with 308 yards

he has booted the ball for 41.5 yards per average includes a effort in a losing cause last Saturday against Utah

State when he placed the ball once on the three-yard line and then booted one on a dead run after a bad snap from center.

'Universal Harvest' Defined By Sill

The "universal, immutable, irrevocable law of the harvest" was the topic of Tuesday's Devotional assembly speech given by Elder Sterling W. Sill, assistant to the Council of the Twelve.

Taking issue with a member who observed that, "We don't get paid for what we do in The Church," Elder Sill commented, "It is a law of the universe that we get paid for whatever we do, be it good or evil."

"The Church was organized for the sole purpose of getting us into the Celestial Kingdom, and this is the major reward that we receive for obedience to gospel principles."

Elder Sill went on to compute the value for eternity at a luxury hotel. He figured that with a wife, seven children and 50 close friends, the eternal luxury would be worth $6,000 a day.

He listed the blessings involved as "a glorious body . . . quickened senses, amplified powers of understanding, and a mind which dwells only on celestial thoughts."

Declaring that man's greatest responsibility is to make the best and most of his own life, Elder Sill summarized, "Our great enterprise is defined by Christ—My Father's business."

Combat Veteran Tells Of Vietnam Experience

"I don't like to tell any war stories," says combat veteran Maj. Gary L. Clark. "Vietnam from a soldier's point of view" will be the subject of his address at 8 p.m. today in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

Sponsored by BYU's Army ROTC, the hour-long address will include slides intended to tell the Army's side of the Vietnam story. It is open to the public with no admission charge.

Maj. Clark, 35-year-old Senior

Army Aviator with both fixed and rotary wing experience, has been assigned to a 16-man Army team currently lecturing in several western states. In addition to first-hand experience received at Phu Bai and Da Nang, South Vietnam, Clark has been extensively briefed on Army policy and plans pertaining to Vietnam.

Besides Vietnam, Maj. Clark has been stationed in Germany and Korea in his 12 years of service.
